VOLUME VIII | CLINTON, N. Y., FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1955 | NUMBER 20

College Intellectuals Seek $500 Answers

Hamilton's version of the radio "Quiz Kids" will match wits against Mount Holyoke in the College Quiz Bowl on Saturday, April 16. The event will be broadcast from the Hamilton Chapel over the NBC network from 7:30 to 8:00 P. M. A final rehearsal and warm-up will begin at 7:05, and it is requested that the audience be seated by 7:15.

The Hamilton team will consist of four participants and one alternate. The five men chosen from a number of applicants to represent Hamilton are Cal Torrance '55, Robin Holloway '55, Mark Heller '55, Sam Rosen '55, the alternate, and Mike Sundell '56. Both Torrance and Rosen have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Faculty Advisors

Recently, the team has been meeting with the faculty coaches, Professors Donald Riddle and Edwin Barrett and Public Relations Director Richard Muniz, to informally answer sample questions sent to the college and to acquaint themselves with the format and technique of the show.

Good Housekeeping Magazine awards a weekly prize of $500 to the winning college and presents each member of the losing team with a wrist watch. Good Housekeeping, which sponsors the quiz bowl, also runs a monthly page of quiz bowl questions and schedules.

If Hamilton should win this Saturday, the team will face Syracuse University the following Saturday, April 23. The schedule also includes Goucher College on April 30 and Fordham University on May 7.

Many Subjects Included

All questions on the program will be drawn from an unusually wide range of subjects including Ancient and Modern European History, American History, American and English Literature, and all contemporary matters.

Two types of questions, toss-up and bonus, are asked. When the moderator in New York gives a toss-up question, any member of either team may indicate he thinks he knows the answer, whereupon a referee at the college rings a buzzer, immediately after which the participant must answer. If his answer is correct, his team is entitled to receive a bonus question, which any member of the team may answer. On the toss-up question, only one answer from one individual team is accepted. On the bonus question, the entire team works together, each member giving his own answer. The moderator will accept the correct answer when he hears it, whether it is the first answer given or not.

While the moderator will be broadcasting from New York, the Hamilton team will broadcast from the Chapel through the Syracuse station WSYR, and the Mount Holyoke team will be at Holyoke.

Phi Beta Kappa Elects Three New Men to Chapter

Phi Beta Kappa has selected three more seniors for membership in the honorary scholastic society. The election of Sanford Stanley Klein, James Shallcross Magee, and Ira Arthur Roschelle was announced in Thursday chapel.

Klein, a member of the French and Biology Clubs, will participate in the McKinney Prize Speaking Contest this year. He is also a member of the International Relations Club.

Roschelle, a three-year graduate, will enter Rochester Medical School next September. He has been a member of the Biology, Outing and Camera clubs. Roschelle entered Hamilton on a New York State Medical Scholarship.

Hill Jazz Concert By Salt City Five Set for Saturday

Class Dance To Follow

Tonight's block beer party at Alpha Delt will begin 1955's Spring Jazz Concert Weekend. The beer party sponsored by Squires, Chi Psi and ELS, will start at 9 p.m. in the Alpha Delt bar.

One Of The Best

Tomorrow the Salt City Five will give the jazz concert in Commons from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. contrary to the College calendar which scheduled it from two to five. The band this year is one of the best concert jazz bands in America according to Comer Coppie, chairman of the Hill Social Committee. It has recently finished a month's engagement at Palm Beach.

In addition to the usual weekend activities the College community will get a chance to see Hamilton's Quiz Bowl team in action against Holyoke. This contest of intellects is scheduled to be broadcast at 7:30 from the Chapel and will be heard coast to coast on the NBC network.

Northwinds To Appear

The Sophomore Dance which will be held in Commons also promises to add a touch of novelty to the weekend.

DT, the sophomore honor society, has obtained a singing group from Vassar called the Northwinds for intermission entertainment. The DT's have also planned several skits and songs of their own.

Admission to the dance will be $1.00 per couple, $.75 stag or a social ticket. Music will be provided by Phil Foote's band and refreshments will be served. The dance will last from 9 p.m. to 12:30.

Officers of the Block "H" Club for 1955-56 were elected Tuesday evening. They are Pete Eckel, '56, President; Earl Cline, '56, Vice President; Pete Eld, '57, Secretary, and Carl Hansen, '57, Treasurer. The Block "H" Banquet will be held Thursday evening, April 21.

Expert on Soviet Diplomatic Policy To Give Lecture

"Why Do the Russians Behave Like Russians?" will be the questions considered by Vera Micheles Dean Wednesday, April 20, in the Chapel.

Mrs. Dean is a Russian-born editor, author, and lecturer. She came to the United States at the age of sixteen, received her A.B. at Radcliffe in 1923, and was awarded her A.M. and PhD. by Yale. In 1928 she became an American citizen. Mrs. Dean also has an L.L.D. from Wilson College and Rochester University.

From 1931-1938, Vera Dean was a Research Associate for the Foreign Policy Association and the editor of their research publication. She has been the Research Director of the Association since 1938. A visiting professor at Smith College from 1952-1954, she is now a visiting professor at the University of Rochester. Among her latest books are: Europe and the United States, and, most recently, Foreign Policy Without Fear.

Professor Rockwell has said that she will "try to explain why Soviet foreign policy is the way it is in the light of both historical and contemporary forces. She is well qualified to do this as she has been writing and lecturing on the subject for twenty years and is a recognized authority."

Memorial Service Held Today For Controller Thomas Rudd

Thomas Brown Rudd

"My first interest is in the students of Hamilton. To you my office door is always open." So spoke then Acting President Thomas Brown Rudd to Hamilton students in 1946. Mr. Rudd died Monday at his home.

In speaking of Mr. Rudd in Thursday Chapel President McEwen said, "Hamilton College does not aim at producing a single type of individuality, nor does it point to any individual as the consummate example of what a Hamilton man should be. Certainly Tom Rudd, who was a modest man, would not want to be held up as such an example. Yet for any a Hamilton man who has known him, Tom Rudd was just that."

Attended Hamilton

The active life which earned for Thomas Rudd this praise began in 1898. Growing up in this area, Rudd entered Hamilton with the class of 1921. Caught up by World War I acceleration, he transferred to Cornell Law School where he was graduated in 1921.

He returned to Hamilton in 1935 to join the Board of Trustees. The year before he had received an honorary M.A. from Hamilton. 12 years later in 1946, he was to receive an honorary L.L.D. from the college he had so well served. Union College also gave him an L.L.D. in 1948.

In 1940, Mr. Rudd assumed the job of controller of the College, a position he held until his death. During the period 1944-1947 he was Acting President of the College four times, due mainly to the illness of President Worcester. From 1947 to 1949, Mr. Rudd was President of Hamilton.

Varied Career

Thomas Rudd's activities were not limited to the Hill. Termed an "indefatigable worker" by President McEwen, Rudd was a partner in the law firm of Rudd, Penberthy and Nelson. He was especially active in the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute, serving as a Trustee since 1935, and as President and Treasurer since 1949.

He served as director of three banks and a large utility company. Mr. Rudd was elected president of the American Federation of Arts for two years.

For secretary-treasurer, next year's juniors elected Joby Burns, a member of Sigma Phi. Burns is local advertising manager for college publications and is on the hockey team. He is also a member of the Hispanic Relations Club.

The Class of 1958 chose John Glezen as its new vice president at its Thursday night meeting in Commons. Glezen plays varsity basketball and intermural sports. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Bill Fairbairn was elected secretary-treasurer of the class. Fairbairn a Deke, has played soccer and sings in the choir. He is also a member of TKE, Charlatans and of the French Club.

The petition period for Student Council nominations began yesterday and will last until next Thursday noon. Pieter Van Volkenburgh, chairman of the Student Elections Committee, has announced the following rules:

1. Each petition must contain no less than 40 and no more than 55 names. They may be signed by a member of any class.

2. Every person, including the seniors, may sign one petition for each of the three classes and one petition for the member-at-large.

3. A person signing more than one petition for each class invalidates the petition. Such petition will be returned for correction.

Dante's "Inferno" Topic for Final Chapel Seminar

Discussion Set For Thursday

On Thursday evening, at 8:00 April 21, Professor Frank Piano will lead a discussion of Dante's Inferno, at Psi Upsilon. This seminar will be the concluding in the series of six that have been sponsored by the Chapel Board.

The Inferno is a very Catholic, medieval poem about Dante's journey through Hell. Beginning on Good Friday and ending on Easter Sunday, Dante encounters nine circles in Hell, and witnesses the punishments inflicted on 24 different types of sinners. Dante shows how each sin has been committed and how the punishment applies directly to the sin.

Main Points

In his discussion, Mr. Piano will emphasize several important phases of the Inferno, a poem which Longfellow called "a medieval miracle of song." He plans to reveal the literary value of the work and also the human interest that it contains. Mr. Piano will discuss two main points as they apply to the Inferno. (1) Your salvation depends upon the state of your mind at death. (2) Hell is not a place, but a state in your own mind that is brought on by sin.

Mr. Piano realizes that it will be difficult for most students to read all 34 cantos of the poem. He has, therefore, composed a list of seven of them, which he recommends as a good basis for an intelligient understanding of the poem. Mr. Piano has selected the following cantos: 3, which describes the vestibule of Hell; 5, which relates the punishment for carnal sinners; 10, tells about the treatment of heretics in Hell

Hamilton to Bestow Degrees On Four at Commencement

Four prominent persons will receive honorary degrees at Commencement June 5. Hamilton will honor Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, Frank E. Gannett, Rev. Ralph T. Haas, and John W. Nason. Previously the College announced that it would confer an honorary doctor of laws degree on Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Manhattan Project.

Mrs. Smith, famous as the nation's first woman senator, will receive the degree of doctor of humane letters. She was a member of the House from 1940 to 1948, serving as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Mrs. Smith was elected to her first term in the Senate in 1948 and was reelected in 1954. She has served on Senate committees on Appropriations, Armed Services, and Government Operations. The Maine Senator was named Woman of the Year in Politics by the Associated Press in 1954, and was the AP's Woman of the Year in 1948. She has also received the Voice of Democracy Award, the National Achievement Award, and the VFW Medal for Americanism.

Frank E. Gannett, well-known newspaper publisher, will receive a doctor of laws degree. Gannett was graduated from Cornell in 1898 and bought his first paper, the Ithaca Daily News, in 1906. The Gannett chain now publishes 23 newspapers. He helped develop a teletypesetter and a new method of engraving and he has written three books on European and world conditions. He is a trustee of Keuka College, the Rochester Institute of Technology, and Cornell University. He is also past director of the Associated Press and a past president of the New York State Press and Publishers' Association.

Shaler to Head Hill Student Admission Committee In '56

Al Shaler, Dave McMillan, Paul McGiffin, Pete Eckel, Earl Cline, and Chuck Rammelt have been appointed members of next year's Student Admissions Committee, the group in charge of undergraduate sufreshmen relations.

Al S haler, '57, will chairman the committee. Besides supervising,; he will assist in planning the sub-freshmen weekends and will take charge once the weekend is underway. "This is an experiment," said Shaler, "since few, if any, colleges have such a large part of the sub-freshman program in undergraduate hands."

Dave McMillan, '58, news editor of the Spectator will take care of publicity. Besides the usual on-campus press releases about the committee's work, he will put into effect a new idea in publicity: some weeks before Mr. Gregory or Mr. Bennett visit a specified area to interview interested sub-freshmen, McMillan will send out publicity releases to that area concerning Hamilton activities to give these sub-freshmen a general idea of life at Hamilton.

Paul McGiffin, '57, will be in charge of the Student Escort Service. This service provides student guides for any sub-freshman visiting the Hamilton campus. Last year, this job was handled by Al Shaler, now chairman of the committee.

Pete Eckel, '56, and Earl Cline, '56, will be in charge of planning and organizing all sub-freshmen weekends. Besides corresponding with sub-freshmen, they will see that each, once he is here, has room and board for the weekend.

Chuck Rammelt, '57, will be in charge of conducting surveys among freshmen to determine how they first became interested in Hamilton and to get the names of any prospective sub-freshmen.

French Play Set For Presentation

The French Club will present Knock by Jules Romains on Friday, April 22, at 8:00 p.m. in the round at Commons. The play will be entirely in French and it is perhaps the first such foreign language production to be seen at Hamilton.

In Memory . . .

In 1934 Frederick C. Ferry, then President of Hamilton, said of Thomas B. Rudd "You have proved yourself a public servant who combines ability and uncompromising conviction with the appealing qualities of kindness and human understanding". This week the entire community echoed this tribute to a resepcted and esteemed leader. His death is a great loss to his friends, his community, his college.

Rudd's leadership of countless civic organizations is well known and admired. There is no need to review the long list of his services and honors. In law, politics and business he distinguished himself as a man of honesty, ability and energy. As President of the American Federation of Arts and the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute, he was resepcted for his sensitivity and intelligence.

For a lesser man the demands of profession and civic affairs might have made service to his college impossible. And yet as Trustee, President, and Controller, Rudd worked with diligence and devotion. This loyalty, unaccompanied by his leadership outside the college, would merit the greatest esteem from the college community.

To all who knew him Rudd was a pre-eminent representative of his college. He was a diligent worker and quiet gentleman, an efficient executive and loyal friend, a brilliant leader and modest servant. His college mourns his passing.

Looking Ahead . . .

Ever since Hamilton Life disappeared in 1948 and The Spectator was established, each editorial staff has contributed successfully to at least one particular aspect of the many departments of the paper whether news, features, organization, editorial policy or layout. In 1955, consequently, the new staff finds a mature newspaper with which to inform and guide the campus. Last year's editor, Al Savory, must be congratulated for an efficiently-run paper which was always characterized by attractive layout. By no means limiting himself to this phase of newspaper editing, he maintained an editorial policy which presented an intelligent, logical and realistic plan for revamping the social set-up at Hamilton in addition to generally succeeding in stimulating thoughtful discussion on all campus issues.

We, the new staff, look forward with anticipation to continuing the fine tradition that has been passed on to us. The next year will be an important one for the College, mainly because the Trustees will decide on the Hamilton social set-up after expansion. Although the decision regarding the form the new social set-up will assume is now virtually out of student hands, The Spectator will attempt to stimulate student interest in expansion by devoting space to a survey of building and expansion plans at comparable colleges in addition to interpreting the decisions which will be made by the Trustees.

The problem of expansion does not concern only fraternity-nonfraternity ratios, new buildings and rushing systems, however. Expansion will also necessitate a reassessment on the part of both administration and students of the College curriculum, the function of student government, the athletic program, as well as many other facets of College life. Intelligent discussion of these and other problems is the only way to bring about a satisfactory solution, and the new editorial staff is anxious to serve the College community by helping promote this discussion.

Lecturer Brown Quotes Judge Holmes; Explains the Creative Artist's Ideas

John Mason Brown, lecturing here under the sponsorship of the Hamilton Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, quoted with approval Judge Holmes' comment that "our faith should be measured by our fears."

Mr. Brown contended that in fighting Communism, we should not "take on the face of our enemy," but rather preserve the heritage of American freedom. Such freedom is necessary to the creative artist, who is the voice of the people, echoing their basic needs.

Brown said that the creative artist tries to answer four basic questions. The first is: "What is man in relation to himself?" a question that Brown said reaches from Job to Kafka. The other questions are "What is man in relation to his neighbors, beyond his neighbors, and God?"

Brown spoke of the danger of the present world situation. He said that the most significant of his aural memories of the last war was the sound of tinkling glass being swept up at dawn after a London air raid, an echo of the doom surrounding civilization.

He reminisced about the duality of our times, which he said found expression in the most recent of Churchill's memoirs, Triumph and Tragedy. The peace brought both victory and defeat, because "nobody wins in modern warfare."

He felt that the creative artist must receive more freedom from the government and the times to answer the basic questions of the people and act as the voice of the people. He felt that the government was perhaps using too many methods of the communists in fighting them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

March 23, 1955

Editor-in-Chief
Hamilton College Spectator
Hamilton College
Clinton, New York

Dear Sir:

About four weeks ago the Student Admissions Committee held the first Sub-Freshman Weekend of the year. Over 70 high school seniors attended, many of whom will be members of the class of 1959. I would like to thank the student body of Hamilton for their courtesy and cooperation during the Sub-Freshmen Weekend. Because of the students' efforts, I think every sub-freshman enjoyed himself and went away with a fine impression of Hamilton College.

For proof of the fine impression we have only to examine an article in the Freeport High School newspaper, written by two seniors who attended the weekend.

"Hamilton is a small liberal arts college by tradition and aims to educate students in terms of quality and not quantity. It seeks to educate its students broadly, so that when they leave and specialize elsewhere, they will not be simply technicians but educated in the arts and sciences. Among liberal colleges, it alone requires four years of public speaking in the curriculum. Most of all, Hamilton emphasizes small classes and good teaching. Hamilton has every sport, with competition on both intra-mural and inter-collegiate levels. The honor system is employed there. Tests are taken with no proctors in the room, and infractions of the rules are tried by a student honor committee."

Whether these boys are accepted here or not, they will always remember their weekend here and will have a great deal of respect for Hamilton and its students. Through the work of Bob Ward and Pete Eckel and the entire student body, we can be assured that the quality of the boys entering Hamilton will be steadily improved.

Sincerely,
Al Shaler, '57

Eggheads of the World Unite; Nothing to Lose But Yokes

By Britt Harwood

If a normal person were tapped on the shoulder and casually asked what Rosinante, Pegasus and Bucephalus had in common, he might be tempted to reply: "insignificance."

A considerably better answer would be expected of Hamilton's four brightest men, the quartet which, this Saturday evening, will wrestle intellectually with the best wits Mount Holyoke College has to offer. Concluding two weeks or so of violent study, the local squad is in the final stages of reviewing everything from Kierkegaard to nursery rhymes preparatory to their appearance on NBC's College Quiz Bowl.

After more than two years of examining top college students throughout the country, the popular radio broadcast is at last scheduled to come to the Hill, and, at the behest of a delighted faculty and Department of Public Relations, the school's delegation has gone into intensive training.

The show concentrated first on pairing off the larger and better-known universities. This fall, with the supply of "assembly-belt intellects" running low, the program's producers turned to the small liberal arts colleges. Noting the salutary trend, Hamilton authorities contacted NBC to find out when the school was to appear. They were not, unfortunately, and, with the series slated to end three weeks ago, the outlook for Hamilton was dim. On March 25, however, the administration received word that the program had been extended for six weeks and that Hamilton had at last been given the floor.

The Quiz Bowl, sponsorless except for the magazine and the watch company that supply the weekly prizes, has received wide attention. The Minneapolis Star said editorially: "Something's been going on . . . that has caused us to undertake an agonizing reappraisal of our feelings about 'eggheads.'" The world's most

McKinney Debate Thursday to Feature Hunt's New "Hamilton Style Debate"

A new style of debating will be tried for the first time at the McKinney Prize Debate next Thursday in the ELS House. Professor J. Franklin Hunt developed the new procedure called "The Hamilton Style Debate."

The most radical change from orthodox debating is a new rule which states, "Each team may interrupt each opposing speaker three times with questions. These questions may be asked at any time in the debate."

The purpose of this is, according to Hunt, "to pin point inadequacies in the opponents' case immediately, and thus sharpen up the debate."

Another change allows for audience participation in the debate. After each of the four speakers has presented his constructive speech, the audience may question the debaters for 15 minutes. Then, each speaker will deliver his rebuttal, without any intermission. To keep the length of the debate approximately the same as orthodox debating the constructive speeches have been shortened from 10 to eight minutes, and the rebuttals from five to four.

By encouraging audience participation, Hunt hopes to increase the interest and popularity of the McKinney debate. "These changes," Hunt commented, "should end 'canned' speeches and heighten the audience's enjoyment."

Some features of this new style have been tried before. M.I.T. uses a procedure which allows for cross questioning in the first two rebuttals. Last fall's Faculty-Student debate featured both a cross questioning and an audience participation period.

However, there are significant changes in the new Hamilton Style from either of these, One, Hunt pointed out, is that the time spent answering a question counts against the debater answering, and not against the questioner.

In the fall semester, a proposal to appoint a Student Athletic Council was met with mixed emotions on College Hill. To clarify the purpose of this proposed Council, John Ibach, president of the Block "H" Club, and member of the college Athletic Council, has offered this explanation.

"At the Fall meeting of the Athletic Council, the opinion was expressed that the Block "H" Club was not functioning effectively enough as a source of student sentiment regarding athletic policy. Attendance at club meetings was observed to have fallen off, and general interest seemed to have diminished in a similar manner. In order to alleviate this situation, the Athletic Council suggested the formation of a new group, to be called, perhaps, the Student Athletic Council, consisting of varsity team captains, athletic council representatives, the sports editor of the "Spectator", and the intramural chairman. This group would meet periodically to discuss and recommend to the Athletic Department measures regarding athletic policy. The Block "H" Club would still exist in that letters would still be awarded to those fulfilling requirements, and sweaters would be awarded. The annual Block "H" Club awards dinner would also be held. However, the Club would not hold meetings or elect officers.

When this proposal was presented at the regular Block "H" Club meeting in January, it was met with quite a little disapproval by the Club. It was felt that student participation in the determination of athletic policy would be diminished, and it would deprive some students of an extra-curricular activity without offering anything in return. As a result, the Block "H" Club moved to attempt a revitalization of its programs in an effort to stimulate greater student participation in the club. If in the fall of 1955 it was found that this program was unsuccessful and interest in the club was still slight, the problem would be reconsidered with an eye toward setting up some sort of a group similar to the one proposed by the Athletic Council.

"During the second semester student interest in the Block "H" Club has picked up remarkably. A program committee has provided movies which have added entertainment to the meetings. The club sponsored jointly with the athletic department after-game get-togethers between Hamilton and visiting teams in hockey and basketball. Refreshments were served, and both parties enjoyed the experiment a great deal.

"Plans are being made to continue this program during the Spring sports schedule when possible. In addition, team captains and club officers, serving constitutionally as an executive board of the club, met with the coaches and discussed training rules. The Block "H" Club-Athletic Dept. resolution concerning training is a positive attempt to deal with the problem of conditioning realistically in an effort to increase team performance.

"If an interest in the Block "H" Club continues to be as great as that shown in the past few months, the formation of a Student Athletic Council will therefore be considered unnecessary when the subject comes up for discussion in the Fall. The Block "H" Club will be fulfilling its purpose as a source of properly discussed student opinion regarding athletics."

Stickmen Prepare for Hobart Opener; Golfers Set for Faculty-Alumni Match

Capitalizing on some fair skies and drying weather, the aspirants for the golf team last week began a series of eliminations that will aid Coach Don Jones to choose his six-man squad. Undefeated thus far in the intersquad play off are juniors Dick Plotka and Ron Woodward and sophomore Jack Taylor. Veterans Jim Schade and Captain Dan Koehler have not played their matches as yet but are expected to do well enough in the tourney to earn first team status. Coach Jones is looking for a sixth man to balance out the first team which has scheduled a match with the faculty-alumni team for one p.m. this Saturday, April 16.

After one more series of matches, the final team will be picked. Although lacking some experience and composed of only juniors, sophomores and freshmen, this year's golf team hopes

After losing three games and gaining much experience the Hamilton College lacrosse team returned to the Hill to prepare for its season opener against Hobart College on April 23 at Clinton.

On March 30 the Buff and Blue took the field for their first outdoor practice and game. After a light workout in the morning, Coach Chief Miller and his City College of New York squad played host to the Hamiltonians at Lewisohn Stadium. When the dust cleared, the visitors from Clinton found themselves on the short end of a 14-10 score. Bob Behnke, high scorer on the southern trip, led the team with four goals while Captain Ed Reed was right behind him with three.

The next afternoon at Hempstead, Long Island, Hamilton was badly outclassed by the Dutchmen from Hofstra, 19-5. After

Sawyer To Speak At Annual Dinner Of Block 'H' Club

Former Manager Won N. L. Pennant

Eddie Sawyer, former manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, will be the featured speaker at this year's annual Block "H" Club award dinner. John Ibach, club president, announced that the banquet is to be held in the Hall of Commons Thursday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Tom Gregory, Assistant Secretary of Admissions, will preside as toastmaster. Also, during the course of the evening, various awards will be presented. to the outstanding athletes of the past season.

Sawyer is famed for his startling success with the Phillies in the 1950 National League pennant race. He was born in Westerly, R. I., and was a classmate of Hamilton basketball coach, Ken Patrick, at Ithaca College from 1931 through 1935.

Upon leaving college, Sawyer decided to make professional baseball his career, and after three years of playing he started managing with Amsterdam of the Class "C" Canadian-American League. He then managed at Norfolk, Virginia, and from there he went to the Class "A" Eastern League, where he ran the Binghamton Triplets and then the Utica Blue Sox. Under his leadership the Blue Sox set an Eastern League record for victories in a season as they swept both the pennant and the playoffs.

After a stop at Toronto of the International League, Sawyer moved on to the Phillies, with a thrilling final day victory over the Dodgers, his "Whiz Kids" took the National League flag, although they were subsequently defeated by the Yankees in the World Series.

At present Sawyer resides with his wife and two daughters in Wayne, Pennsylvania, where he is a manufacturers representative for a plastic company.

Six awards will be given in recognition of athletic achievement: The Fowler Award will be given to that member of the football team who has shown the best sportsmanship and love for the game. The Sellers Award will be given in recognition of achievement in hockey, and the Campbell Award for achievement in basketball. The Shulman Award will be given to the outstanding soccer player of the past year. The Sherman and Strickland Awards will be given to the outstanding golf and baseball players respectively. Also, trophies will be given to those men who have received four consecutive letters in one sport.

Baseball Begins; Batt Is Confident

In Saturday's first inter-squad game of the season, the Hamilton B team was victorious over the A squad, 10-8. This great preponderance of offensive activity at a time when the pitchers should be ahead of the hitters gives coach Greg Batt a great deal to be optimistic about.

Starting for the B squad were Art Melius behind the plate, Dick Dorsino, Bruce Colapietro, Al Olsen, and Rick Purple in the infield. Jim Montgomery, Henry Hyde, and Jim Thompson patrolled the outer gardens. For the A team Don Pratt caught, with Eric Hasseltine at first, John Glezen at second, Dave Moffett at short, and Bob Moses at third. In the outfield were Bob Lambert, Norm Daily, and Mike Billings.

Hovey Starts

Ron Hovey started on the mound for the B squad and was the game's only effective pitcher. Hovey worked three innings without allowing a run. Neither Ellis Fribush nor Gordy Hall, who followed Hovey found the going quite as easy. Comer Coppie and John Penny, pitching for the A squad, also ran into a great deal of trouble, each allowing five runs.

Hitting stars for the B squad were Colapietro, Olsen, Dorsino, and Thompson, each getting two hits. Dorsino and Colapietro also knocked in three runs apiece. For the A squad, captain Glezen and Dave Moffett led the attack with two hits each, while Moffett also drove in three runs.

Batt Undecided

With the season's opener only a week away, coach Batt is still undecided as to who will start next Saturday. Freshmen Melius and Gibson are both giving veteran Don Pratt a run for the catchers spot. Dick Dorsino and Eric Hasseltine are fighting it out for first base, as are Colapietro and Moses at second. Al Olsen and Dave Moffett have the inside track at short and third. Captain Glezen has been moved to the outfield, and will probably open in left, as will Skip Schuman in center. Leading candidates for the remaining outfield berth are Bob Lambert, Jim Thompson, and Bob Regan.

The starting mound assignment is also in doubt. Thus far Hovey and Al McGann have been the most effective in practice sessions.

Tracksters Plan Intra-Squad Meet Before Union Run

Cline, McGiffin Look Impressive

Coach Gene Long announced yesterday that an intra-squad track meet will be held on April 26 in place of the meet with Griffis Air Force Base originally scheduled for that date but cancelled due to the lack of practice of the Griffis team. John Ibach and Robert Braunlich will lead the two opposing squads whose lineups have not yet been announced.

Cline Impressive

When asked about the track team in the coming season, Long said he could not predict who would compete in the events; however, he did divulge information on the track team as a whole. In the 100 and 220, Earl Cline, Steve Harwood, and Hal Bruck have been impressive in training. The 440 is wide open, although Long hails the return of Dick Harnett who has just come out after a two year absense; Harnett who has just come out after a two year absence; Harnett ran the 440 in his freshman year and was a member of the mile relay team which set the school record that year. Doug Robinson is shaping up well for the 880, while Milt Harkrader, Perry Weed, and Bruce Bartlett are training for the mile. In the two mile run. Al Shaler appears to be the number one man, with Rusty Herbsman and possibly Harkrader following him. In the high and low hurdles Pete Eld has been very impressive.

McGiffin Ready

In the field events Paul McGiffin appears to again be the star he was last year in the javelin and discus, Cline and Jim White in the broad jump, Ibach and Pres Dawes in the high jump.

Long declined to make any prediction on the season, but he did say, "We have more depth this year than last although the distance events are weak; I am looking forward to our first meet on April 30 with Union."

Netmen to Clash With Utica College In Initial Meeting

Four returning lettermen will pace Coach Mox Weber's netmen in the 1955 campaign. Captain Dick Miller, Harry Presberg, last year's number one man, Chris Ravndal and John Roberts will be heading a squad of 17 candidates. Returning also will be Max Gray and Peter Cox

Two former prep school stars, left-handed Craig Henzel, from Trinity Pawling School, and Tim Smelzer, from Shady Side Academy, are also in the running for starting slots. Due to bad weather, Coach Weber has not been able to hold enough practices to determine more than four of his first six men.

Coach Weber feels that this year's team is equal in ability and spirit to last year's squad which posted a 7 and 1 record with two cancelled matches. The 10-match schedule shows no new opponents. The initial encounter will take place April 20, at 3:30 when the netmen clash with Utica College on home courts.

Anatomist Farris To Speak Monday On Man's Sterility

Edmund J. Farris, director of the Worcester Institute of Anatomy and Biology, Philadelphia, will speak in the Chemistry Auditorium, Monday, April 18, at 8:00. Dr. Farris will speak on Fertility and Sterility in Humans. Movies will illustrate his talk.

Dr. Farris, research anatomist, received his B.A. from the University of Buffalo and his Phd. from the University of Pennsylvania. He has served as instructor of anatomy of the Medical College of South Carolina, also Georgetown University, and the University of Buffalo. In 1945, Dr. Farris, author of many books on the subject, received a special award from the National Research Foundation for his work on Human Fertility.

Sailors to Meet Syracuse and Five Others Tomorrow

Saturday afternoon the informal Hamilton Sailing Team will open their 1955 season at Syracuse in the eliminations for the Middle Atlantic Championship for freshmen. Representing the College will be George Reustow and Dave Mackey as "A" skipper and crew, and Paul Peterzel and Tom Benson as "B".

The Blue will be competing against five other upstate colleges, Cornell, Hobart, RPI, Rochester, and Syracuse. The teams that place first and second will win the right to participate next weekend in the finals at Kings Point. Last year Hamilton placed second in the elimination meet and fifth in the championship.

The schedule for the varsity opens on Saturday of next week in a pentagonal meet at Rochester. One of the two important meets of the season, the Associate Member Championship, will be held next weekend. Although Hamilton is defending champion, it is doubtful that any team from here will participate. The meet is to be held at George Washington University and the distance is too great to travel. On May 7 and 15 at Colgate and again at Rochester are two meets that lead up to the last important one. On May 21-22, at Syracuse, The Upper New York State Championships will be held. Last year, the Blue placed second, missing first by only one point.

ests. Among these was his enthusiasm for rough outdoor life about his little camp on Baker Creek in the Adirondacks.

Mr. Rudd is survived by his wife, Helen Rudd, whom he married in 1928, two sons, Nielson and Joseph, and two grandchildren.

In announcing the two memorial services which were held Friday afternoon for Mr. Rudd, Dean Tolles said of him, "To those of us who worked with Tom Rudd, he will be sorely missed. His loyalty, his cooperative spirit, his sound judgement, and his complete and total honesty were a source of comfort and inspiration to us all. Hamilton College has indeed lost a real leader and a true friend."

and is also recommended for its dramatic realism; 15, which describes the encounter between Dante and his former teacher; 24, the canto which tells of the thieves who have been changed into reptiles; 33, which, along with 5 is the most famous and which describes the crime of a political prisoner, and 34, the one in which Dante finds Satan in Hell. Mr. Piano thinks that even the students who are unable to read these suggested parts of the poem will be able to appreciate the presentation of the subject.

Hamilton Debaters Head for Amherst To Meet 17 Foes

The Hamilton Debate Club sends two teams to the Third Annual Amherst Invitational Debate Tournament to be held at Amherst tomorrow. 18 colleges will send 24 teams to this tournament. Members of the Hamilton teams will include Jim Magee, '55, Pete O'Hara, '57, Bob Connor, '56, and Ben Sheerer, '56. Professor G. Franklin Hunt will accompany the team and will act as a judge at the tournament.

Three Hamilton students attended the Delta Sigma Rho conference in Charlottsville, Virginia seniors attended, many to thank at the University of Virginia. Robin Holloway, '55, vice president of the Hamilton chapter of the national forensic fraternity, Gene Granof, '56, and Pete O'Hara, '57, attended the conference lasting from March 23 to 27. The 46 representatives from 10 schools discussed the topic: "How Can the American Educational System Best Meet the Needs of Our Society?"

being held to one goal in the first half the Continentals came to life in the third quarter and scored three quick goals. They then went on to hold the powerful Hofstra team to five goals in the second half. Bob Behnke again had the "hat trick" for Hamilton, and Bobby Fellows and Bill Penfield hit for one goal each.

Adelphi College handed the Hamilton squad its third consecutive defeat in Garden City on April 1, 13-8. Plagued by poor shooting and shabby defensive play throughout the first half the Clinton stickmen fell behind 10-2, and never gained the advantage again. Bobby Fellows led the second half offense with three goals(four for the afternoon) and an assist. Bob Behnke managed to score two goals and an assist, and Dick Boyd and Bill Penfield also broke into the scoring column.

This is how things will go on Saturday. The South Hadley, Massachusetts, co-eds, will be poised in their own auditorium at the same time the Hill Four wait in the Chapel. A radio hookup, in this case a telephone line to Clinton from WSYR in Syracuse, between the two campuses and an NBC studio in New York permits Allen Ludden (a 37 year old Phi Beta Kappa alumnus of the University of Texas) to act as remote control quizmaster.

An electronic board will buzz and light each time either Hamilton or Mount Holyoke presses its button. The device, however, shuts off the lagging team's signal, leaving the other to answer the "toss-up" question and, if it is answered correctly, to try for bonus points.

Appearing Saturday for the second time, Mount Holyoke dominated the program for four weeks this autumn (the winner of one week's show becomes defending champion of the next).

"Quiz Bowl," produced by John Moses and Ken MacGregor, is expected to continue during the summer on television instead of radio, with the collegiate contestants being flown each week to a Rockefeller Center studio.

The chances are slim that the record established by the University of Minneapolis will be surpassed. Earlier in the series, the midwesterners were on for 13 consectutive weeks, collecting more than $6,000.

Even though it demands the answers to such questions as "What is the name of the romantic novel Winston Churchill wrote?" the show, according to its writer Nancy Forbes, "isn't too highbrow; . . . it's intelligent and fun, and a welcome relief from the 'Who's buried in Grant's tomb kind of quiz."

Archibald Campbell, colonial attache of the British Embassy in Washington, will deliver a talk and show films on "West Africa" tonight at 8 p.m. in the TKE House.

Champs Elysees Theatre in Paris. It was received with remarkable success and has been produced regularly in France since then.

The action of the play takes place in the small French provincial village of St. Maurice, where Dr. Knock, "the personification of a well-known type of businessman and rather a charlatan in the medical profession," has purchased the practice of the former village physician, Dr. Parpalaid. Knock, whose psychological approach to patients "literally terrifies the villagers into wholesome respect for the abstract deity Medicine," is strongly contrasted with Parpalaid, "whose modest and antiquated methods failed to enrich him."

The French Club production is directed by Marcel Moraud, Associate Professor of French, assisted by George Brachfeld, Instructor in French. Mr. Moraud is particularly competent to direct Knock since he played the part of Parpalaid in a production given by American University at Biarritz, shortly after the war. He also directed a similar production of Knock at the University of Texas.

The cast will include Al Kempler as Knock, Sam Schulman as Parpalaid, Mrs. George Nesbitt as Mme. Parpalaid, and Sam Rosen as Mosquet, the druggist.

Again this year the varsity has a ten mantch schedule, while the JV team will compete in four matches. In preparation for the season, several candidates traveled to well-known links in the golf conscious Southland during the Spring recess. Hopes are high that the earnest spirit shown by the young squad will make up for its lack of varsity experience and thereby come through with a winning season.
